HYLAN SEES NOMINEE OF RADICAL TYPE OR THIRD PARTY IN 1924

Johnson, Pinchot, Hearst and Rodman Wanamaker So Classified.
HE SPEAKS IN CHICAGO
Says Invisible Money Power Oppresses People.

'LYING PRESS' SCOURGED
'Empire of Corrupt Big Business Is Facing Doom at Hands of Serfs.'

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD, Chicago, Dec. 9.—Mayor Hyland of New York came to Chicago to-day to make a speech and some suggestions in regard to Presidential nominations in 1924. This is how he thought it might be:
Republican nominee, Hiram Johnson of California, Rodman Wanamaker of New York, Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, or a man of equal caliber.
Democratic nominee, William Randolph Hearst or his equivalent—Or—
A third party.

Mayor Hyland spoke before members of the Chicago Real Estate Board to-night at the Congress Hotel and will return to New York Monday afternoon.

"What the people want," he said, "is a man whose sympathies are with the people and not with gold—a candidate on either party with a proved progressive record."

Mayor Hyland began his speech with a denunciation of the system which permits wealth and property and the control of the Government of America to be retained in the hands of less than two per cent. of the inhabitants.

He said that the power concentrated in this group of selfish plutocrats is "devoted to the betterment of humanity instead of increased power and greater financial gain, living would be cheaper and better, and every man, woman and child in the United States would lead a happier existence. But what do we find? A widespread exploitation in the necessities of life and a crushing oppression of the people in almost every city and State on the continent."

"A small group of international bankers and money lenders, public utilities, exploiters and trust beneficiaries have actually dictated nominations for offices up to the Presidency. They have placed the slickest, cleverest and most cunning manipulators in official positions, even in the minor posts, where they could be of service when called upon by the invisible power behind the scenes, the power which seeks but to wallow in riches."

"This invisible power whose black and menacing form hovers over every freeman in the land stealthily and secretly reaches out and seizes in its filthy paws our vaunted institutions of free government with the same ruthlessness and relentless greed as the spider of death pursues its numberless victims."

Absolute Power of Rulers.
"So absolute is the power of America's secret dynastic rulers that they have, without hindrance, written the very platforms and pledges of political parties, and because of substantial contributions to campaign chests they have arrogated to themselves the right to dictate the governmental policies of the administration elected to office, regardless of party. Woe to the public officials who dare to resent their dictatorship."

"There are these public officials who will not submit to their imperious dictation then the flood gates of lying press propaganda are released, sweeping the citizenry public servants as easily as well as political grave or compelling him to compromise with his conscience and become their subservient tool to the end of his life."

Brookhart Gives Notice 'Wildman' Is His Name

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD, New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—SENATOR BROOKHART, (R., N. Y.), one of the leading insurgents in the Senate, admits he is a "wildman." In fact, he says, in his biographical sketch in the new Congressional Directory, that "Wildman" is his middle name.

The fact that he was so careful to have his middle name spelled out led some conservative Senators to believe he intended to "throw a scare into them." Color was given to that conclusion by the emphasis which Senator Brookhart places in his biographical sketch on his ability as a rifleman.

DOUG AND MARY TO TAKE WORLD TRIP

Selected Group of Fifty to Accompany Movie Stars on Long Journey.
McADOO MAY BE GUEST

Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford have begun preparations for the most unusual trip ever taken by any motion picture stars. They are planning, if nothing occurs to prevent, to make a trip around the world next spring. With them, as a possible honeymoon couple, will go Charlie Chaplin and Pola Negri.

For this trip a steamer has been chartered and invitations have been sent to about fifty guests.

The ship is said to go under the name of the Japanese steamer Maru. This vessel belongs to the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, and has a net tonnage of 2,570. It is a single screw ship, the crack vessel of the line, carrying only first class passengers, numbering 80. It regularly plies between San Francisco and Yokohama, but on its last trip, instead of making the return voyage to the Golden Gate, it was taken from service and sent to Kobe last month for special repairs in preparation for the coming trip.

Notice is given on all the folders announcing the service of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, that the ship will be fitted with a gymnasium, swimming pool and a miniature movie theater.

The trip is estimated to cost around $250,000, and it will last from six to eight months. Its purpose will be threefold. It will be for one thing, a publicity stunt, as Doug and Mary discovered that their recent trips to Europe increased their popularity enormously by bringing them in personal contact with their admirers. Secondly, it will enable them both to satisfy their desire to travel. Thirdly, they will be able to check up on the work of the foreign representatives and distribution agencies, especially in Japan and the Orient, where their releasing bureaus are only newly established.

They will leave San Francisco next spring.

Despite the large cost of the trip it is expected to be more than made up by the publicity and the fact that they will take camera men along and shoot pictures, as well as animals, en route. Moreover, Pickford has the largest capital behind them of any independent stars, being backed by a group of wealthy Cleveland real estate operators and the like.

It is possible that William G. McAdoo, ex-Secretary of the Treasury and now general counsel to United Artists, the Fairbanks-Pickford company, will accompany them part the way.

William S. Hart, the motion picture actor, sent a letter to THE NEW YORK HERALD last night denying the report that he was accompanying the couple. He wrote: "The statement in to-day's Herald that I am accompanying the couple is not true. When I work again it will be under the Paramount banner."

SAYS SON AT 2 YEARS SMOKED CIGARETTES
Gron Blames Wife's Son for Teaching the Child.
PORTLAND, Me., Dec. 9.—The use by his nine-year-old son of the word "Green" instead of Gron was the greatest disrespect the child could show to his father, Nels Gron, Danish diplomat, testified to-day before the divorce suit brought by Madeline Masters Gron. Gron also said that on his return after an absence he had found his son, then only 2 years old, "crazy over cigarettes."

POICE AND DRY MEN UNITE TO KEEP CITY SOBER ON HOLIDAYS

Yellowley Announces He Will Fight Wets Here With Injunctions.
AFTER 'HIPPIERS' ALSO

Records of City Arrests to Be Used by Federal Men in Crusade.

MAY SEIZE TROUSERS
Fight to Be Concentrated in 'Roaring Forties' and on $50,000,000 Ships.

A new phase of prohibition enforcement will go into effect this week. B. C. Yellowley, Federal Enforcement Director, said yesterday that Police Commissioner Enright has instructed his department to give unstinted support to dry agents in a campaign to curtail the sale of alcoholic beverages in cafes, cabarets and saloons in the "Roaring Forties."

Commissioner Enright has agreed, Mr. Yellowley said, to furnish to the prohibition enforcement department a complete daily report of every alleged violation of the Mullan-Gage law, the State enforcement measure.

Through evidence furnished in the Police Department reports the Federal enforcement officers will be able, Mr. Yellowley said, to bring into extensive use that provision of the Volstead act which provides authority for closing, through injunction proceedings, every establishment that twice violates the national prohibition act.

The injunction clause of the law is our best bet," said the dry director. "We intend to put a halt to the sale of liquor through its use. There are pending at this time more than 1,500 such injunction suits, and we hope to get early hearings on them. By putting out of business all places that show utter disregard for the prohibition law we will bring about enforcement of that measure."

Going After 'Hippers' Too.
"We are going after the hip pocket 'toters,' too. There is no bluffing now, because the police are fighting with us. One night very soon we will drop in unexpectedly on the sale of the midday gatherings where liquor is flowing freely. Broadway's palaces of midnight revels are going to dry up."

The New York State Legislature, Representatives Luther Mott and Hamilton Fish, Jr., and is expected to be signed by seventeen of the thirty-three Republicans in Congress from New York State. The text will be made public when the letter is ready to be sent, probably Wednesday or Thursday of next week.

The letter will propose a conference between Republican members of Congress, Republican members of the State Legislature and county chairmen and State committeemen of New York for the purpose of agreeing on a program of legislative reforms. It will say these reforms should be supported even if they are advocated by Al Smith as Governor.

The New York State Legislature, Representatives Mott and Fish explained to-day, will be called upon to support the restoration of statewide direct primaries, the reorganization of the New York State government and home rule measures with reference to the transit situation.

Both Mr. Mott and Mr. Fish declared they believed such a move necessary for the sake of harmony and the success of the Republican party in New York State.

"The younger element in the party will not follow or even remain in the Republican party if the old reactionary leaders and policies are to dominate," they said in a joint statement announcing the drafting of the letter.

Drys Propose Volstead as Sergeant-at-Arms

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD, New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—THE Anti-Saloon League is behind a movement to take care of Representative Volstead (Minn.), defeated in the election.

In casting about for a good berth for Volstead the league is said to have enlisted eyes upon the post of Sergeant-at-Arms of the House, now held by Joseph Rogers of Pennsylvania. As Sergeant-at-Arms of the House, it was pointed out, he would be in position to keep tab on wet and dry forces in Congress and be able to tell the league of any wobbling by the drys.

The dry forces will have a hard time prying Mr. Rogers out of the place, his friends say. He likes the $6,000 per annum and the work.

N. Y. CONGRESS BLOC DEMANDS REFORMS

Seventeen Republicans Will Send Letter to State Chairman Morris.

Conference of Legislators, County Chairmen and State Committeemen Planned.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD, New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—A group of the New York State delegation in Congress is preparing a letter to Chairman George K. Morris of the Republican State Committee of New York, demanding that the Republican party in New York break away from reactionary control in favor of a series of popular reforms.

The letter is being drafted by Representatives Luther Mott and Hamilton Fish, Jr., and is expected to be signed by seventeen of the thirty-three Republicans in Congress from New York State. The text will be made public when the letter is ready to be sent, probably Wednesday or Thursday of next week.

The letter will propose a conference between Republican members of Congress, Republican members of the State Legislature and county chairmen and State committeemen of New York for the purpose of agreeing on a program of legislative reforms. PURE PRIVATE LIVES OF JUDGES IS AIM OF BAR ASSOCIATION

Taft Committee Draws Up Code of Ethics for Judges Off Bench.
32 CANONS SPECIFIED

'What Judges Ought to Be as Important as What They Ought to Do.'

17,000 MEMBERS TO VOTE
Rules Similar to Those Set Down for Lawyers in 1908 Are Drawn.

Judges would be held to strict account in private as well as public life in a tentative code of ethics for the judiciary agreed upon here yesterday by a preliminary committee of the American Bar Association headed by Chief Justice Taft. The committee held its third and final meeting at the Bar Association, 42 West Forty-second street, with Chief Justice Taft, Robert von Moschinski, Chief Justice of Pennsylvania, and Charles A. Boston, attorney at 24 Broad street, in attendance. Leslie E. Cornish, Chief Justice of Maine, and Garret W. McEwen, of San Francisco, the other members, were reported in accord, though unable to be present.

The code as recommended is divided into thirty-two canons, according to Mr. Boston, who said it would be reported to the executive committee of the national body at Hot Springs, January 15. If the same routine were observed as in the 1908 ratification of the present code for lawyers, after the code has been passed upon by the executive committee, general sentiment throughout the country will be canvassed, and the instrument in final form will be submitted to the national convention next summer.

Chief Justice Taft declined to give out particulars of the new code last night, pointing out that it was under consideration. He was willing to say, however, before returning to Washington:

"We have been preparing about thirty canons of ethics for judges to submit to the executive committee of the American Bar Association. We have concluded our sessions and are ready to make our report."

"Do your proposed canons include suggestions affecting the personal as well as the judicial conduct of judges?" was asked by the reporter.

"We cover the whole subject in every particular," he replied. "The American Bar Association prepared such canons for members of the bar, and now need not be recognized for similar canons for members of the judiciary. That has been our work."

Mr. Boston said: "The feeling has been that the work of 1908 was incomplete because it did not include the bench. What judges ought to be was regarded as important as what they ought to do. This work is now being completed. Our suggestions await, however, the say of the executive committee, and then the 17,000 members of the American Bar Association will vote."

Chief Justice Taft attended a meeting of the Yale Corporation, of which he is a member, before joining the committee.

WOMAN SICK AT SHOW IS HIS DYING MOTHER

Son Ignorant of Identity as He Awaits Parent.

Frederick Reilly of 301 West 134th street, seated in the West End Theater, to-day, was waiting for his mother, last night saw attendants carrying an aged woman who had been stricken with heart disease up the aisle to the matron's room, but he did not know she was his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Reilly, aged 71. Before leaving home young Reilly had arranged to meet his mother in the lobby of the theater after the show. They intended to go shopping. When he did not see her there he thought she had decided not to go to the show and returned to his home. The police advised him later by telephone that his mother had died in the matron's room of the theater.

BRITAIN READY TO CANCEL DEBT OF FRANCE FOR CUT IN GERMAN REPARATIONS

TURKEY OBSCURE ON CAPITULATIONS
Envoys Announce They Will Not Give Up Advantages to Any One.

OPPOSE ARMAMENT LIMIT
Tehitchehin Warns Neighbors to Beware of Allies in Black Sea.

By LAURENCE HILLS.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK HERALD, Copyright, 1922, by THE NEW YORK HERALD, LONDON, Dec. 9.—The optimistic feeling that prevailed yesterday over the Turks' conciliatory attitude and their split from the Russians was changed entirely to-day, owing to the fact that the Turks this afternoon, in negotiations with allied experts, showed a new firmness on several points.

Chief of these was the matter of capitulations. The Turks announced they would allow no one to obtain any advantages of Turkey in this respect, one expert adding: "If anybody is to get advantages it will be the Turks." The military clauses on the rule of the straits provoked dissensions, the Turkish experts declaring that Turkey would permit no limitation of armament.

Concerning the military clauses Ismet Pasha said to-night: "The Sevres treaty had six pages of such provisions, not one of which has the force of law, for they have never been agreed to." His delegation also objected to clauses regarding the number of ships to be allowed in the Black Sea, declaring they had not understood what they meant when proposed by Lord Curzon yesterday. They defined the Turkish position as unalterably against any limitation of armaments.

Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general of the League of Nations, came from Geneva this afternoon to confer with Lord Curzon on subjects connected with that organization and departed afterward for London to continue negotiations.

Tehitchehin Issues Warning.
George Tehitchehin, Soviet Foreign Commissioner, receiving the Turkish newspaper men to-night, said he was very sorry to see the stand taken by the Turks, but at the same time he could see no reason why the good relations that existed between Russia and Turkey should not continue. He warned Turkey to beware of the Allies in the Black Sea.

The American statement still is exciting much attention here, especially in allied quarters. A member of the British delegation to the conference said that the British attitude as welcoming any American principles at this time.

Although the fate of the conference still is subject to many surprises it is not expected that it will adjourn over the holidays. The British consider that it would be regrettable to let the Turks return to Ankara while in a conciliatory mood and then return to Lausanne under the green flag and the red flag.

Chief Justice Taft attended a meeting of the Yale Corporation, of which he is a member, before joining the committee.
